O'Neal Released At Hearing Before Squire C. D. Boushe

Charged With Manslaughter In Connection With Death Of Joe Revell Sunday

Del O'Neal, famed stunt automobile driver, and alleged to be one of America's foremost daredevil drivers, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Joe Revell, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Revell, in a tragic accident which occurred at Grenada Fair Grounds last Sunday afternoon, while O'Neal and his associates were putting on an exhibition, sponsored by Grenada Lions Club, won a dismissal at a hearing before Justice of the Peace C. D. Boushe Wednesday morning.

The charges were preferred by County Prosecuting Attorney W. S. P. Doty. O'Neal was not represented by counsel. Mr. Doty told the court that O'Neal should be held under bail to await the action of the grand jury by reason of the fact that he was engaged in the performance of an unlawful act, at the time Joe Revell met his death, which constitutes manslaughter under the laws of the State of Mississippi, even though there was no intent to injure any one. The unlawful act being that O'Neal was staging an exhibition on Sunday. Had there been any intent to injure someone, said Mr. Doty, the act constitutes murder. Mr. Doty then read from the Mississippi statutes and his contention was proven.

O'Neal, in his plea to the court, stated that he had been engaged in performing stunts with automobiles for five years and had never had a spectator injured before. On interrogation by Prosecuting Attorney Doty, he voluntarily stated that four men working with him in daredevil automobile driving had been killed, two in head-on collisions, one in crashing through a plate glass and one in crashing through a burning wall.

Young Revell was almost instantly killed when a small roadster in which O'Neal was attempting to make a perilous drive, known as the ski jump, did not

John C. Rich, District Supervisor, FSA, Rotary Guest

Told How Glenwild Would Be Operated Under Government Ownership.

Mr. John C. Rich, of Greenwood, District Supervisor of Farm Security Administration was guest speaker at the regular luncheon of Grenada Rotary Club on Tuesday of this week.

Mr. Rich's remarks were principally answers to questions put to him by members of the club.

Mr. Rich said, that should Glenwild become the property of the FSA it would be farmed very much in the same manner as any other plantation. "For the first five years it would be farmed by day labor and the prevailing farm wage in this community would be the wage paid by the FSA," said Mr. Rich. He called attention to a similar project, as that proposed for Glenwild, in Sunflower County, and said that they are paying common farm labor 75c per day and skilled labor, such as tractor drivers, are being paid the same wage as is being paid on plantations in that community. He was asked about the number of hours employees work. He stated that laborers on near-by farms went to work by the bell on the FSA plantation and that the farmers were well pleased with the project. When asked about the commissary being operated free from taxes he stated that their stores paid the same privilege tax as any other general store.

According to Mr. Rich, laborers would be paid each Saturday for their week's work and they would (Please turn to page 5)

Tax Assessor Completes Real and Personal Roll

Exceptionally Neat and Accurate, Reflects Much Diligent Work

Will Ed Boushe, Grenada county's genial tax assessor has completed the real and personal county tax rolls as required by law.

The editor made an inspection of the rolls one day last week and must say that few, if any, rolls in the state will compare with the rolls as compiled by Mr. Boushe. They are very neat and accurate and reflect that much diligent work was necessary to produce them.

Debt Adjustment Help To Grenada County Farmers

Meeting Planned Soon To Help Debt Burdened Farmers

Free advice and assistance to farmers who face complications from excessive indebtedness will be available here Thursday, July 14, when the Grenada county farm debt adjustment committee meets at Grenada in the FSA office. It will begin at 10 a. m.

W. W. Whitaker of Grenada, chairman of the committee, pointed out this week that the committees are made up of farming and business leaders of the county and operate to bring worthy, debt-burdened farmers and their creditors together to work out amicable adjustments and agreements that will avoid foreclosure, place the debt structure on a sound basis again and benefit all concerned.

Only debtors who are doing their honest best to meet their obligations will be assisted, the chairman said.

Debtors or creditors seeking the committee's assistance should apply to the chairman of the county supervisor of the Farm Security Administration.

Rankin Demands Probe Of The Cottonseed Trust

Robbing Farmers of South of Hundreds of Millions of Dollars Annually

Washington, D. C., July 4—Before leaving for his home in Mississippi today, Congressman John Rankin appealed to President Roosevelt and to the newly created Monopoly Probe Committee, for an immediate investigation of the cottonseed trust, which characterized as "one of the most vicious monopolies in America."

"It is robbing the cotton farmers of the South of hundreds of millions of dollars annually, by fixing the prices of cottonseed," said Mr. Rankin, "and at the same time, is robbing the consumers by fixing the prices of the finished products."

"Farmers of the South produced over six hundred million bushels of cottonseed last year,—33 bushels to the bale,—or more than nine million tons. Measured in bushels, the cottonseed crop amounted to three-fourths as much as the wheat crop of the entire nation. These seed were sold for less than half their real value, as result of the operations of this vast monopoly. A bushel of cottonseed contains as much food value as a bushel of wheat."

"The farmers of the South will produce more than four hundred million bushels of cottonseed this year—or more than six million tons—if we have a twelve million bale crop; and I am informed that this monopoly has already begun to fix prices at which those seed are to be sold, and has parceled out the territory so as to prevent competition."

"If they succeed in depressing the price of cottonseed again this year—as they undoubtedly will do unless this investigation is made immediately—" farmers anywhere from one hundred million to three hundred million dollars, and will drag down the prices of wheat, corn, hay, dairy products, and all other farm commodities that compete with cottonseed products, as it has always done."

"This is the most pressing emergency facing the Monopoly Probe Committee, and I have appealed to them to act now before it is too late to protect the farmers in the sale of this year's crop of cottonseed."

Services Sunday At Church Of Christ

Rev. Howard White, of Charleston, will preach at the 11 o'clock services here next Sunday morning at the Church of Christ on Adams Street.

One Death Lasts Just As Long As The Other Says Dr. R. N. Whitfield

An accident is not really an accident in the opinion of Dr. R. N. Whitfield, Director of Vital Statistics, State Board of Health, who released to the press the following comments on disasters all too commonly associated with the 4th of July.

"Unfortunately we still cling to an intangible conviction that accidents are something that just happen in the course of human events, and we have to take our chances as we drift along. Accidents, so called, are due to causes just as truly as typhoid fever is due to one kind of germ or tuberculosis is due to another kind of germ. A death from typhoid fever or from tuberculosis doesn't last a bit longer than a death from an automobile or from an accidental discharge of a shotgun either," he stated.

"The thinking people of Mississippi were very gratified over the passage of our excellent traffic law which went into effect July 1. Our up-to-date highway patrol is at work, and we now look for a sizeable reduction in traffic fatalities in the State of Mississippi during the present year. This is a consummation devoutly to be wished and earnestly expected. However, we must all remember that the mere passage of a law does not cure the evil at which it

WASH MITCHELL'S BOYS

(By W. E. Boushe)

Princes and Lords are but the breath of Kings. An honest man's the noblest work of God.

Once more we go to the neighborhood of Hardy, that place already mentioned on other occasions as having given Grenada county some of its most worthy citizens. This time our meanderings carry us to the cross road from Hardy to Pearidge where we come to the homes of the honest and worthy subjects of this sketch, two brothers, Messrs. Joe and Ray Mitchell, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Washington (Wash) Mitchell. Their original home was at Teasdale in Tallahatchie (the free state). I think also Mr. and Mrs. Wash Mitchell were the parents of one girl. Besides Mr. Joe and Mr. Ray there were two other boys, also fine citizens, men who like their brothers contribute to the betterment of our community. One of the brothers, John, married Miss. Tenie Allison. She herself being one of our most enterprising families. They live in Charleston where they stand well with every one. The next brother, Ernest, lives near Holcomb. He runs true to the family standard—honest, industrious and a likable young man. His fine wife is a daughter of Mr. Al Staten of one of the best known families of Grenada county. But back to the Hardy Pearidge cross road and to the homes of my respected friends, Ray and Joe. Some years ago I walked Grenada county. I was weary and whipped down. At 12 o'clock I came to the home of Mr. Ray Mitchell. He and his good wife did not know me then, or at least not well, but they took me in. I will never forget it, nor forget them (till my rights hand loses its cunning Oh Jerusalem). They treated me royally. 'Twas dinner time when I got there, but I was made to feel welcome. The repast was a bounteous one, and they took pride in the fact that all they had for dinner were products of their labor and farm. They were proud of their children as well they had a right to be, for the two children, a young lady and a son, were not only intelligent, but good to look upon. Mr. Mitchell had nice stock, a well worked crop and a good garden. Their yards and premises were well tended, showing them to be the excellent family which they are. Mr. Mitchell's wife was Miss Adelle Fowler, a noble lady of a splendid family of the free state of Tallahatchie. Their daughter, a sweet and refined young lady, finished high school this year.

Mr. Joe Mitchell living near Ray is also a splendid man. The good of one is also of the other. His wife was formerly Miss Sadie Whitten, daughter of the well-known and highly respected Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Whitten. Mr. Jesse Whitten served on the board of supervisors and made a good record. He is a man of honor, reputation and good intention. Mrs. Sadie Whitten Mitchell inherited all the many fine attributes of her worthy father and mother which make her both a fine wife and mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mitchell are the parents of five children, three boys and two girls, all representative children. One daughter, Miss Inez, works in the office of Mrs. Webster Goodwin. She efficiently fills the post and is admired and respected by all who know her.

The Mitchell Brothers are all good farmers, honest men. They look the whole world in the face, they are unashamed for they have done their part with the talents God has placed in their hands. They are kindly and patient with their fellowman, slow to anger, quick to forgive. They are good Christian men, placing God first. They work for what they have, and expect no more than is their own. They represent the salt of the earth.

With more sterling men such as these, our country would today have less of discord. No room for bolshevism and anarchy. In closing I will say to each of you Mitchell Brothers, may all of your worthy efforts meet with merited reward. "Happy Landing."

Many Girls To Attend Camp Tallaha This Summer

Opening Period July 31-August 13, Second Period, Aug. 14-Aug. 28

Almost one hundred girls from different sections of the Delta are already registered for the opening period of Camp Tallaha, July 31-August 13, and reservations for the second period, August 14-August 28, are now being received by Miss Evelyn Baird, director.

Recent improvements, such as electric lights in the main building and hospital, new showers, and an entirely new water system, will add to the already numerous advantages of Tallaha make the camp an enticing spot for the girl camper between eight and eighteen years old.

A staff of eighteen full time counselors, most of them college graduates, will direct all activities. In addition, the staff will include a regular dietitian, a registered nurse, a camp mother, and a hostess.

Included within the extensive activity program will be a photography hobby course, including taking, developing, and tinting pictures and the use of both still and movie cameras; a journalism class, which will publish a camp newspaper; and a riflery class offering opportunity for students to shoot for nationally recognized medals of the National Rifery Association.

The waterfront program will include swimming and diving taught by six Red Cross examiners and one senior life saver.

Other activities offered include dancing, archery, tennis, crafts (clay, leather, basketry, sketching), nature study, hiking, and dramatics.

Every evening will find some delightful recreational program planned; a grand march, a barn dance, scavenger hunt, county fair, indoor relay meet, recitals, stunts, or camp plays.

Elaborate plans are being made for the opening day, Sunday, July 31. Registration for the campers will be in progress all day, but definite entertainment is being arranged. At 12:30 a big barbecue dinner will be served outside free to campers and members of staff and with a small charge of 50 to all visitors. The Clarkdale High School Band will give an afternoon concert from 1:30-2:30; tennis matches between state champions, both boys and girls will be held at 10:30 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. Following the last match Rev. Shed Hill Caffey, of Greenwood will conduct a brief religious service.

Strength During MIDDLE LIFE

Strength is extra-important for women going through the change of life. Then the body needs the very best nourishment to fortify it against the changes that are taking place. In such cases, Cardui has proved helpful to many women. It increases the appetite and aids digestion, favoring more complete transformation of food into living tissue, resulting in improved nutrition and building up and strengthening of the whole system.

Just at this time, when motorists of Mississippi are centering their attention on the rules and regulations of motor vehicle driving, made necessary by the enactment of the new laws at the recent legislative session, the following summary of rules for safe driving might be interesting, and might be the means of saving life if adhered to. They are not quoted from the law itself, but they are what the law means.

Keep your eye on the roadway ahead of you. Inattention for one moment might mean a life. Diverted attention of the driver for a few seconds may result in loss of life or serious injury.

Never take it for granted that the "other fellow" will clear the roadway for you. He might fool you at your expense. Give him all the road you can. A "road hog" is a fool or idiot.

Keep your car under complete control. Loss of control for one moment might send some one into eternity.

High speed has caused many unexpected deaths. The road laws provide for a speed not greater than 55 miles per hour.

Never drive a car unless you know it is in safe operating condition. Have your car and tires checked often.

If you drive with one hand, don't become so engrossed with what the other hand is doing. It might be safer to park it in the parlor.

Do not attempt to cut in and out of traffic. Others have tried it and failed.

When making a turn, be sure to first signal properly. There is no need to signal after you have turned.

Do not expect the other fellow to read your mind. Few motorists are mind readers.

Glance into your mirror every few seconds, and thereby assure yourself of what is behind you.

Be careful around schools, corners, curves, R. R. crossings, underpasses and long straight roads. Remember that "Old Man Carlessness" causes most accidents.

Have your car checked every 1000 miles, and more frequently if possible. It's a good investment on your life, and also that of the car.

Do not mix alcohol and gasoline. Others have tried and failed. Drunken driver accidents have increased.

Never drive into a road or street, without stopping to make sure the way is clear. Better use your brakes than depend too much on your horn.

Learn to gauge the speed of the car you are meeting before trying to pass another going in your direction, and thereby prevent a three-way accident.

And last, but not least, watch the nut that holds the steering wheel—the most dangerous part of any automobile. And it is also the one item that insures the greatest safety.

As stated formerly in other articles, at this time, people of Mississippi are very much interested in the laws pertaining to new highway set-ups, driving specifications, licenses, and "road rules," generally.

In this connection, Hon. Sam Dalton, maintenance engineer of the State Highway Commission, and a man who has been outstanding for years in the interest of better improved highways, has an interesting article in the June issue of the Mississippi Highway magazine.

Mr. Dalton calls attention to the fact that Senate Bill No. 132 better known as "Rules of the Road," becomes effective on July 1st, and that since "ignorance of the law excuses no one," it behooves every Mississippian who uses streets and highways, whether driver, or occupant of a motor vehicle, or a pedestrian—to become thoroughly familiar with this law and obey it.

Mississippi ranks high in safety engineering, and we are building modern highways, and Senate Bills Nos. 162 and 132 have given us traffic laws equal to those of any state of the Union. Mr. Dalton points out, and adds, however that at the present time, we are lagging in safety education.

Senate Bill 132 attempts to educate the young people of the State, who, of course, will be the drivers of tomorrow, by requiring that the "Rules of the Road," be taught in the 8th grade of every school of the State, and that during next year this law will be taught in the 8th to 12th grades, inclusive of every public school of the State.

Mr. Dalton urges every citizen to study close the "Rules of the Road."

The State Democratic Executive Committee met last week and took up the consideration of the qualification of candidates for the Congressional nomination in the seven districts, and declared candidates in each of six districts, and declared Congressman W. M. Whittington as the nominee for the 3rd congressional district, he having no opposition. The time for candidates to thus qualify expired on the 23rd of June.

Other district candidates recognized by the Committee are:

1st District—Sam Lumpkin, Tupelo; John E. Rankin, Tupelo; and Charles G. Hamilton, Aberdeen.

2nd District—Wall Doney, Holly Springs, and Mansard Bullock, Water Valley.

4th District—Joe Sheffield, Calhoun City; A. L. Ford, Ackerman, and D. L. Gregory, Kosciusko.

5th District—Rbas A. Collins, Meridian, and R. F. Mason, Magee.

6th District—Wm. Colmer, Pascagoula, and R. G. Wooten, Hattiesburg.

7th District—Dan R. McGehee, Meadville; Hugh B. Gillespie Raymond, and Thos. J. Reed, Natchez.

The aforesaid Democratic Executive Committee will meet again after July 23rd, at which time they will declare candidates or nominees for the circuit and chancery judgeships of the 17 circuit court districts, and the eleven chancery districts of the State, and one supreme court judgeship. In the Supreme Court Judgeship of the second Supreme Court District there is an unexpired term of one year to be filled, and then there is also the selection of a Judge for the full term of eight years.

From the distinctive advertising features relative to the Magnolia State, as brought out by the splendid cartoons of Director Ed Lipscomb of the Mississippi Advertising Bureau, we present this week the following:

Coahoma county since 1932 has increased its gross farm income over 400 per cent.

Sunflower county, adjacent to Coahoma, in the Delta, harvested more than a million bushels of oats in 1937.

Seventy-five per cent of Pearl River county's acreage is planted to Tung Trees.

Between 1933 and 1937, the average price of Mississippi cattle increased 90 per cent.

Mississippi is the first State of the Union to require a label on every package of butter, showing the grade of cream from which it was made.

More than 100,000 acres of virgin land in the Mississippi Delta has been placed in cultivation during the last four years.

Read these cartoons in your local paper, and let them literally "soak in," and it will make you ponder of the great State of Mississippi, which leads in so many worth while ways.

According to a statement of State Treasurer Newton James, Mississippi will wind up the fiscal biennium today with more than six million dollars in the Treasury, and the State has already paid from this year's receipts $195,175.00 on bonds and interest, due on July 1st, the payment having been made before the first.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS TO TAKE ACTION JULY 1

Jackson, Miss., July 3.—Action by the Board of Directors of the Mississippi Forestry Association upon legislation proposed by the joint Legislative Forestry Committee for consideration during the extraordinary session which Governor Hugh White has called to convene July 6 will be taken at a meeting here Friday, July 1, Henry T. Crosby, president, revealed today.

The forestry association board will act following appearance of Lieut. Gov. J. B. Snider, chairman of the legislative committee, to explain in detail the provisions of 12 bills, which he has requested the association to consider before final recommendations to the Legislature are made by the committee, Mr. Crosby said.

Officials of agricultural departments of the state and federal governments and farm organizations have been invited to sit in at the meeting, scheduled to convene in the convention hall of the Edwards Hotel at 10 a. m. The conference was originally scheduled for Thursday, but postponed due to a conflict with a meeting called by the Southern Pine Association to convene in New Orleans.

A severance tax bill to finance a coordinated state-wide reforestation and forest fire protection program and an act to provide for exemption of growing timber from ad valorem taxes are considered among the most important measures to be discussed at the Friday confab.

A full report of the activity of the association since its reorganization June 10 was slated to be made by Howard Suttle, executive secretary.

Provisions for other legislation follow:

Reimbursement of the U. S. government for expense of emergency conservation work on lands rendered productive under such work, "if and when, by a sale of land or products the state derives a profit from such work."

Authorization of organized fire suppression forces to extinguish uncontrolled woods and grass fires and to recover costs thereof by civil action.

Empower boards of supervisors to contribute from funds over which they have jurisdiction to the State Forestry Commission for forest fire prevention and control and other forestry purposes.

Authorization of State Forestry Commission to acquire, rent, lease and dispose of property.

Liberalization of forest protection levy act of 1932 so as to authorize the board of supervisors of any county to levy a special tax of not more than three cents per acre on forest protection areas.

Require forest officers to report violations of forest fire laws.

Payment of fines for violations of forest fire laws into the common school fund of the county in which violation occurs.

Authorization of Public Land Use Commission, composed of Governor, State Forester and Director of Conservation, to create state forests, state parks and state game preserves for reforestation and other purposes from public lands.

Empower Public Land Use Commission to consolidate contiguous areas of state lands for more economical administration.

SOIL BUILDING PAYMENTS TOTALING $8,250,000 MADE

Jackson, Miss., July 4.—Soil building payments totaling $8,250,000 had been made to Mississippi farmers through June 24 for cooperating in the 1937 agricultural conservation program, T. M. Patterson, administrative officer in charge, AAA, announced here Saturday.

Meantime, the state AAA office and the county offices in each of the 82 counties are making every preparation to hasten payment of the 1937 subsidy which Administrator Patterson estimated will total $13,000,000 for Mississippi.

Although explaining that "simplification of the 1937 subsidy payments was authorized by a last minute act of Congress which will facilitate procedure in the state and county offices," Administrator Patterson predicted that "it will be September before the first payments are made to farmers."

He said "it will likely be August 10 before approved printed forms are received in the county office from Washington. It will then take another month for farmers to sign and submit applications for payment. A summary of the data in these applications must then be sent to Washington where the national office will calculate the percentage portion of the producers' normal production on which payments will be made in order to determine each eligible producer's share of the $130,000,000 appropriation made by Congress for cotton adjustment price payments."

It has been previously announced that farmers will receive subsidy payments on 65 percent of their normal production. Patterson said in the Washington office estimates that this percentage probably will be computed somewhere between 60 and 65 percent, depending on the number of farmers who actually comply with the 1938 farm program.

Subsidy payments will be made to all farmers who produced cotton in 1937 and who comply with the 1938 farm program. The rate of payment will range from 1 cent to 3 cents a pound on 60 to 65 percent of the normal production. The rate of payment, Patterson explained, will depend on the date on which the farmer sold his cotton. All cotton sold after September 10 will draw 3 cents a pound. Payment on cotton sold prior to September 10 will range from 1 cent to 3 cents a pound because the market fluctuated from 9 to 11 1/2 cents prior to that date.

After September 10 cotton has averaged less than 9 cents a pound.

Administrator Patterson said "the subsidy payment will be divided on the farm according to the cotton acreage cultivated by each tenant and not according to the actual 1937 production by each tenant." He said this would help to hasten payments because for all cooperating farms the acreage data is already on file in the county offices and the state office.

In answer to inquiries from county agents, Patterson said farmers will not have to sell their cotton in order to get the subsidy payment. Many farmers have cotton in the government loan or other loan and some producers have cotton in storage on the farm. Under the law all cotton still owned by farmers on July 1 will count as sold on June 30, 1938.

Speedy payment of the subsidy will depend on cooperation of the farmers themselves as each farm operator must make application for payment.

Checking 1938 performance has started in practically all counties of the state. Every farm will be checked and the acreage in each crop will be measured.

Patterson said the compliance crews have been carefully trained, a good start has been made and it is anticipated that measurement of every farm will be completed prior to the ginning season.

Before cotton can be marketed each producer must be issued a card; a white card if his planted cotton acreage is within his acreage allotment, a red card if the cotton acreage is in excess of the acreage allotment for the farm.

Only Special Cotton Qualities Imported For Mills in America

Imports of foreign cotton to the United States, although never large, have been declining in volume for a number of years, according to T. M. Patterson, administrative officer in charge, AAA, in Mississippi.

Practically all cotton imported by American mills is of special qualities not commonly found in cotton produced in the United States, he pointed out.

Recent publicity given to a shipment of cotton from Calcutta, India, to Richmond, Va., for delivery to a North Carolina mill has led to a great deal of misunderstanding about the importation of cotton to this country, Patterson said. Many people received the impression that the United States had suddenly started importing cheap cotton from foreign countries to compete with cotton produced here at home, and in some cases the impression has been given that the adjustment programs were responsible for the imports.

This is not the case at all, Patterson said. Manufacturers in the United States have been importing cotton of various grades and staples for many years, including especially long and fine staple cotton, such as Egyptian and Peruvian varieties, and the so-called rough varieties of very short staple cotton produced in India and China. Very cheap foreign growths also can be imported at times and sold to advantage in competition with the cheaper cotton millwaste or the very low grades of American cotton.

Patterson explained that in 1926

this country produced a crop of 18,000,000 bales but imported a total of 400,000 bales. The annual average of imports from 1923 to 1932 was 273,000 bales. The average dropped to 163,000 bales for the 4-year period, 1933-36. For the first 8 months of the current marketing year imports total only 80,000 bales, as compared with 139,000 bales for the same period in the preceding year.

The shipment of Indian cotton which caused wide publicity when "spotted" in a Richmond warehouse was consigned to the Beacon Manufacturing Co. Swannanoa, N. C., a blanket-manufacturing concern. The Indian cotton has a very short staple length and the fiber is harsh and crinkly. It does not compete with ordinary cotton but is better suited for mixing with wool in cotton-wool blankets and various kinds of part-wool cloth than cotton produced in the United States.

It is safe to say that imports of cotton to this country will continue to be confined to very small amounts of special types not commonly produced here, and there is no ground for believing there is a trend toward increasing our cotton imports, Patterson concluded.

Dodder In Lespedeza Is Best Controlled By Summer Pastures

Pasturing during the summer months is the best means of controlling dodder, or love vine, if it has become established, in lespedeza fields, says County Agent J. L. Cooley. Dodder is a serious menace, especially where farmers are growing lespedeza for seed, or for hay.

Cooley points out, however, that the surest way to fight this weed is to plant lespedeza seed that is known to be free of dodder. This means that growers should not harvest seed from fields that are heavily infested with dodder.

Although starting from seed, dodder soon attaches its tenacious-like vine to other plants and thereafter lives the life of a true parasite. A single plant may produce as many as 8,000 seeds which, of course, if harvested with lespedeza makes the seed of the legume dangerous to use. The pale yellow or orange-colored vine appears in the summer and sometimes attaches itself to wild plants, says Cooley. However, the vine seems to have a particular liking for legumes.

Under the State seed law, dod-der is a noxious weed. Farmers purchasing lespedeza seed should note the noxious-weed content on the label. Because of its size and shape, dodder is difficult to screen out of lespedeza seed.

Weekly News Letter

(By W. F. Bond)

Under Federal regulations, before any of those on the old age assistance payroll may receive an increase or any new names added to the payroll in the respective counties, a home visit must be made by the county welfare office and a written report of the visit made of the findings. Also a budget has to be made out for those already on the payroll in order for a change to be made as well as for those applying for the first time. When all of this has been done, if there is not enough money to give to each person on the payroll the amount needed as shown by the budget, each one put on the payroll must be given approximately the same percent of the amount. In the future, therefore, no application may be acted upon by the county welfare committee unless such application is accompanied by a written report of the home visit made by the agent and a budget showing the need; and the amount allowed, if any, will have to be the same percentage as was allowed others put on the payroll.

McKnight-Ashmore

The lovely lawn of Hampton Hall, residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Huggins, made an impressive setting for a beautiful wedding in the late afternoon of the past Tuesday, June 14, when Miss Winnie Ashmore, of this town and Mr. R. Alvin McKnight of Ita Bena, plighted their troth. Beneath the wide spreading boughs of the stately, century-old trees and in front of a group of rare shrubs directly facing the residence, an improvised altar was marked by green pedestals intertwined with sprays of fern and topped with baskets of Shasta daisies, leading to which an aisle was formed by lengths of wide white satin ribbon. Preceding the ceremony a program of nuptial music was given by Miss Ione Henderson, of Grenada, who sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "Because" and by Mrs. P. M. Stockett as pianist and Mrs. J. R. Hamilton, violinist, who played "Believe Me, If All Those Endearing Young Charms" and "O, Promise Me" and also the Lohengrin Wedding March for the entrance of the bride party.

The attendants of the bride wore filmy organza dresses with long full skirts in pastel shades. The matron of honor, Mrs. James Cartwright, of Indianola, was in hyacinth blue, the maid of honor, Miss Grace Ashmore, in yellow, the bridesmaids, Miss Margaret Casseels in pink and Mrs. Everett Caldwell, of Hardy, in aqua. The maid of honor carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses, the others the same flower in a pale pink shade. The groomsmen were Messrs. Nevin Jones, Douglas Ashmore, Mitchell Ashmore and James Cartwright, of Indianola. The best man was Mr. Coyt Jackson, of Ackerman. The bride, who came to the altar on the arm of her father, Mr. O. P. Ashmore, was lovely in her wedding gown of white lace made on princess lines and with long sleeves and a long train. Her veil of illusion was worn Juliet cap fashion, fastened in the back with a spray of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The double ceremony was performed in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends by Rev. T. J. Delaughter, pastor of the Woodville Baptist church.

Immediately afterwards an informal reception took place during which refreshments of ice cream and cake were served on the lawn by a group of girls in pretty evening dresses. In the dining room of the Huggins home the bride's table had been charmingly arranged with a lace cloth centered in a large bowl of Mrs. Charles Bell roses and lighted with tall white candles in silver holders. Here the bride's cake, loed in green and white was cut. The bridal bouquet, thrown from the upper porch, was caught by the maid of honor, Miss Grace Ashmore.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. McKnight left for a short stay on the Gulf Coast before going to Ita Bena where they will make their home. Her motoring costume was of British tan crepe with beige accessories.

Mr. McKnight has held a position as pharmacist in Ita Bena since his graduation at the University of Mississippi in the class of 1937. His wife, who finished at Grenada College two years ago, received her B. A. degree at the University two weeks ago. She is the older daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Ashmore who moved from Grenada to Woodville with their family two years ago. They have all made many friends in this, their new home and many good wishes were extended the bride and the young man of her choice.—Woodville Republican.

THE PARTING

We wonder why, oh, why had this to be?
And the tragic tears rain down our cheeks.

The mother sighs, and seeks her faith to keep,
"Oh God, why did this heart-break come to me?"

How darkly we, the vision see,—
His plan, so little grasp or understand.

Yet our belief is firm in its decree—
These things are guided, Lord, by Thee.

In loving memory of Joe Brown Revell, the brilliant child, who departed this life on Sunday, July third, nineteen hundred thirty-eight.

DRIVERS—OR DRIVEN?

(An editorial from the Rotarian Magazine)

We still have to learn how to live with the automobile. Both as pedestrians and drivers we are much at the mercy of other drivers. At the wheel, we are also at the mercy of ourselves, when our driving skill is inadequate. And in a sense, we are at the mercy of the machine.

For one thing, many modern motorcars can go faster than many modern drivers can think—and act. "Canonball" Baker, professional record-smasher, who has driven more than 3 million miles, often at forced speeds, and who has had only one accident and that when his own car was standing still, says: "The average man's reflexes are not fast enough to handle the top speed of today's automobiles."

Each driver has a "safe" speed. It is a balance of his personal reflexes against his car's speed. It is a speed that is right for him, given his physiological and mental makeup. For some exceptional drivers this "safe" speed may be high, but for many it is certainly not more than 40 or 45 miles an hour.

But the campaign for highway safety—while it focuses chiefly on eliminating auto deaths and maimings, as, patently, it ought to—has other aspects. For instance, bad conduct on the highways can pump up the blood pressure, perhaps can harden the arteries, and surely can upset the digestion, and with it one's peace of mind.

Here is a driver—and where is he not?—who feels that that car ahead, moving a little slower than his own, must be passed at all costs that the light must be beaten, that any other driver on the road who seems to violate the rules or infringe on his pride, must be disciplined with inner anger and perhaps with downright discourtesy and cursing. Of course, he may cause no accident. He may leave the death and injury toll where he found it. But the resultant turmoil has a price—and he will pay it, in frayed nerves, in an overworked heart.

Yes, we must not only make the highways safe for others, but we must also make them safe for ourselves. We must learn how to drive with serenity. Otherwise we are not driving the car. It is driving us.

TAX NIGHTMARE COMING

Thirteen months from now, according to slide rule calculations of a government economist, the national debt of the federal government will be in excess of 43 billion dollars—double what it was five years ago. For the fiscal year 1939, beginning July 1, next, congress has authorized the expenditure of 12.5 billions, 6 billions of which will be "deficit financed."

Breaking this vast sum down, it is found that during fiscal year 1939, the federal government will spend $1,027,397,250 a month; $34,246,575 every day; $1,426,940 each hour; $23,782 every minute; or $396 every second!

So what! Soak the rich, you say? According to the government economist (who got his figures from a treasury report), only forty-three people out of every 130,000,000 in the United States had incomes of a million dollars or more in 1937. Their aggregate income was 73 million dollars and if every penny was squeezed from them it would barely meet the government expenditures for 48 hours.

Once more we are forcibly reminded that taxes—and deficits—are paid in the sweat of labor by the average citizen.

ROADS TO SOMEWHERE

The roadside markers tell us that the Rotary Club, or Lions, will lunch a certain day, and bid the traveler a welcome to the coming event. There's something intriguing and substantial about such signs that point to associating with jolly good fellows, with interests in common for their communities and closer human relations. Those are road signs that point to somewhere.

THE GOOD EARTH ANSWERS

Wheat, corn, cotton and other crops are bringing good cheer to the people in many sections of the country where these products of the soil are their money. Country newspapers everywhere tell of the good luck of the communities because "crops look good". That's big business for the farmers.

"Behind The Scenes In American Business"

(By John Craddock)

New York, July 5—BUSINESS.—To the business man confidence is the basis of profits, and the prospect of profit is what makes prosperity. Factories are reopened or new ones built as soon as operators believe that there is at least a 50-50 chance of being able to sell more merchandise at a profit in the near future. The return of confidence usually begins to manifest itself in the stock market. People are willing to pay more for examining rules okayed by President Roosevelt last week will for the first time enable small businesses to issue bonds and sell them to their local banks. It is estimated that as much as $3,000,000,000 of private money may thus be made available to store operators, small manufacturers and contractors. Old regulations prevented banks from buying bonds which did not have a ready market. Another new regulation which will be helpful to small business men permits bankers to make long term loans (loans of more than nine months), type of lending which formerly was discouraged.

INVENTORIES—One of the blindest, underlying reasons why business men feel that business recovery is in the making is that inventories have been greatly reduced. Inventory is unsold merchandise on the shelves of retailers or wholesalers or in factory warehouses. In depression periods, when there is great uncertainty, manufacturers generally fill orders from inventory already accumulated rather than keep factories going full steam turning out goods that it may be impossible to sell. By this process, called working off inventories, the supply of goods available for public consumption grows smaller and smaller. Eventually a point is reached when orders no longer can be filled from inventory. Then production must be started again, men and women go back to work and a new recovery cycle is launched. Inventories of wholesalers at the first of June were 14.8 per cent lower than a year earlier, a very healthy sign.

FOR 'SUBURBANKS'—Beans thrive in an acid soil, whereas carrots prefer to "stay over on the alkaline side." These are two of the more elementary of many fine points of soil testing and adjusting that Suburban Burbankers are learning this year. Soil diagnosticians of the Freeport Sulphur company report home gardeners are going much more scientific than ever before, with unusual demand noted for small chemical kits, sold at hardware and seed stores for from $2 to $20, with which they test and adjust garden soil for alkalinity-acidity balance. Kits consist of charts, manual, test tubes and vials of fluids. Some gardeners report savings of up to 50 per cent of their summer vegetable bill through this scientific "trucking."

THINGS TO WATCH FOR—Golf clubs with transparent heads, in which arrows are imbedded to guide the stroke... A "can't miss torpedo" which, in case it misses an enemy battleship, turns back and strikes the warship from the opposite side... Portable partition for soda fountains, which move on an overhead rail and can be adjusted to divide off any number of seats from others... A germicide more potent than tincture of iodine, yet less irritating... An "elevator" car which runs up and down the side of the stairs in your home.

HEADLINES—New car registrations declined, but filling stations see upturn in business—reason: old cars burn more gas than new ones... Miami to have movie colony—studio under construction will begin by producing cartoons and later do full length features... Cigarette production shows increase over last year... Private power companies last year paid a tax bill last year of $330,000,000, or 16 per cent of gross revenues... United Business Service cites uptrend in building as brightest spot in business picture... Over 100 general magazines gained an average of seven per cent in circulation last year... Survey of 33 cities shows retail drug store sales greater in those communities having larger percentage of chain food stores... United States has 30,000,000 automobiles, or 70 per cent of world's total... More than 70 per cent of American homes now using electricity.

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY

COTTON INSECT REPORT

State College, Miss., July 7.—The very general distribution of the boll weevil in Mississippi this season is indicated by the report of State Plant Board inspectors and government entomologist, who examined 159 farms in 32 counties during the past week, finding weevils on all of the farms except ten. The average infestation was 13 per cent as compared with 19 per cent a week ago, 6 per cent on this date last year and 1 per cent at the same time in 1936. New generation weevils are now emerging rapidly, and the infestation will probably rise unless the weather continues hot and dry.

Grasshoppers are present in some Delta fields but not causing great damage. No leafworms have yet been reported, either in Louisiana or Mississippi.

Farms examined in Grenada county 10, farms infested ten, percentage of infestation 16, 13, 24, 11, 31, 15, 26, 16, 33, 23.

bulk plants located in Jackson, Milan, Huntingdon and Lexington, Tennessee, and all of the company owned marketing properties and controlled outlets of the Penn Tenn Company.

The Lion officials who negotiated the purchase are A. F. Reed, Vice President and General Sales Manager, F. M. Rider, Manager of Station Sales, and J. A. McNeil, Mississippi-Tennessee Division Manager for the Lion Oil Refining Company.

"The contract for the purchase of the Penn Tenn Oil Company has been closed after several months of negotiations with its officials and stockholders," Mr. Reed said. "All details have been completed and the Lion Oil Refining Company will take over the operation of the Penn Tenn properties on July 1st. The purchase of these properties is another step in the expansion program of the company and gives us valuable outlets through which to serve our products in northwestern Tennessee."

"We feel we are fortunate indeed in securing the Penn Tenn properties at this time," Mr. McNeil said, "as this purchase definitely ties in with our marketing trend, and gives us an opportunity to meet the growing public acceptance for Lion products in northwestern Tennessee through established outlets that already have a reputation for high quality service. These additional outlets make Lion products available throughout the greater part of the Mid-South."

Company Has Grown Rapidly

The Lion Oil Refining Company marketers of gasoline and other oil products throughout Mississippi, Arkansas, Tennessee and the northwestern part of Alabama, is a completely integrated producing, refining, and marketing organization. Since its organization in 1923 the Lion Oil Refining Company has become an important factor in the oil markets of the mid-western, central, southern, southeastern, and southwestern states. While the company markets under its brand name only in the South, its products are shipped to oil marketers in twenty-nine states and Canada.

The Lion Company entered the retail marketing field in the South in 1930, starting with one bulk plant and three service stations in El Dorado, Arkansas. Since that time, its marketing activities have been expanded to include over one thousand retail service stations and dealers.

In the development of its marketing activities, Lion has acquired the properties of a number of independent oil marketers in Mississippi, Tennessee, and Alabama. In 1935, the company purchased the marketing properties in Arkansas of the Marathon Oil Company, adding many bulk plants and retail outlets.

In addition to gasoline, motor oils, and fuel oils, the Lion Oil Refining Company is a factor in the domestic asphalt market, manufacturing and selling each year approximately one-twelfth of all the asphalt made in the United States from domestic crudes. Lion Oil is one of the largest rail shippers in the Mid-South.

The Lion executives who negotiated the Penn Tenn purchase are well known in oil circles throughout the South. Mr. Reed, formerly in the oil business in Memphis and Nashville, Tennessee, joined the Lion organization in 1930 as Vice President and organized the marketing division of the company. F. M. Rider, formerly zone manager for the Kelly Springfield Tire Company, with headquarters in Atlanta, Georgia, joined the Lion organization in 1935 as manager of retail sales and was later promoted to manager of station sales. Mr. McNeil was Mr. Reed's assistant for a number of years and was appointed Mississippi-Tennessee Division Manager in 1936.

Company President Pleased Colonel T. H. Barton, president of the Lion Oil Refining Company, expressed gratification at the support the Lion Oil Refining

Drainage Of Big Black River

Ackerman, Miss., July 2—Congressman A. L. Ford of Ackerman, today issued the following statement in regard to the drainage of Big Black River:

"I have just received assurances from the Chief of Engineers in the War Department at Washington that our fight for the drainage of Big Black River is beginning to bear fruit and that the War Department has now allotted sufficient money from the Appropriation Bill of June 11, 1938, to begin construction work and drainage operations just as soon as the acquisition of right-of-way can be disposed of. The District Engineer has been working for some time on plans and specifications for the Project. It now seems certain that despite any opposition from any county at the mouth of the river, our people in Webster, Choctaw, Montgomery, Carroll, Attala and other counties are soon to enjoy the benefits to be derived from the drainage of Big Black River."

RESOLUTION BY ALDERMAN WHITAKER

RESOLVED by the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, assembled in Grenada, Miss., July 4, 1938 that this Board looks with much disfavor upon the proposed Homestead exemption law, about to be considered by the Special session of the State Legislature, for many reasons, the greatest reason being that such a law will be a severe blow to local self-government, the principal upon which American practices are based. It is our belief that this fundamental change in the tax structure will have reactions that even the keenest mind cannot anticipate.

Resolved that a copy of this resolution be handed each of our representatives in the legislature, including Senator Bulloch, a copy to the press, a copy to Governor White, and a copy spread on the minutes.

Done this the 4th day of July, 1938.

SEVENTY HIGH SCHOOLS HAVING SUMMER SESSIONS

(By J. S. Vandiver)
Approximately 70 high schools in the state are having summer school this year with an enrollment of approximately 2,000 pupils. Work done in summer school must equal in quality and quantity that of the regular school term according to the regulations of the high school accrediting commission. Most of the pupils attending these schools are doing review work, or are irregular pupils who need to earn one or two units in order to graduate.

No pupil may earn more than one and one-half units of new work during any one summer or take more than two classes of review work. A total of not more than four units may be earned in summer school during the entire high school course. In order for work to be recognized in any summer school, application must be made to the accrediting commission and reports sent in as provided by the commission.

We wish to insist that the superintendents of the various schools in the state see that all regulations are met so that pupils may receive credit for the work they are doing.

A Tribute to . . . Practical Patriotism

To the editor and personnel of this newspaper, the Advertising Commission expresses grateful acknowledgment for a full portion of Mississippi's advertising accomplishments of the past two years.

Such success as the advertising program has attained, such information as it has spread, such increased state consciousness and loyalty as it has inspired — for these the Commission publicly offers unstinted credit to the sustained and indispensable cooperation of editors of the state.

This newspaper and others of similar spirit have contributed to the Advertising Commission within the past twenty months $136,126.86 worth of the only product they have for sale — their space. Receiving in return not one penny of payment, they have given of their stock in trade as the true group for the advancement of the state of which they and we are a part.

For such intensive and unflinching support, for so generous a demonstration of practical patriotism, we offer the gratitude of this Commission and of the progressive citizenship it serves.

Pruning Pine Trees May Yield Profits

Pruning southern pine trees to produce knotless lumber may become a relatively common practice in Mississippi timberlands, according to Extension Forester J. B. Toler of Mississippi State College. Toler cites a report of the Southern Forest Experiment Station of the U. S. Forest Service as saying that the high prices obtained for better grades of lumber may justify artificial pruning in order to obtain a greater clear length of log. The Forest Service says that in recent years B and better southern pine lumber has been worth about $17 per thousand board feet more than No. 2 Common, although the chief difference between these grades is merely the number, size, character, and location of knots.

Farmers and timber owners will have to determine whether labor costs and prospective markets will make artificial pruning economically profitable, but it may prove worth-while in many cases to put idle labor to work during off seasons to prune trees for future sawtimber.

The extension forester says that in dense stands or in stands containing many hardwoods, second-growth southern pines usually develop reasonably clear stems by natural pruning. In some cases, however, the best growing trees in a stand are not sufficiently crowded at early ages to accomplish natural pruning. In such cases pruning by hand may prove profitable if the cost is not too great.

Investigations showed that one could prune 100 - 150 inch longleaf pines per acre in 6 hours. The pruning was done to a height of 17 feet, so as to produce one 16-foot sawlog allowing for a 1-foot stump.

Toler says that for pruning up to 6 to 8 feet above the ground or from ladders, the best tools are hand pruning saws with 14-inch stiff, slightly curved blades and 5 1/2 to 8 teeth per inch. A pole pruning saw which was found very satisfactory for pruning between 8 and 17 feet above the ground had a very stiff, rigidly mounted 16-inch blade with 7 teeth per inch. This saw cut only on the draw stroke but allowed the pruning to be done by a man standing on the ground.

MISSISSIPPI FARM NEWS

(By F. J. Hurst)

One way farmers can save cash money and assure production of higher yields of better crops is to have plenty of choice farm-selected seed. Each farmer should save sufficient supplies of seed corn, cowpeas, soybeans, lespedeza and other farm seeds to meet planting requirements next year. County agents can advise farmers about the best harvesting methods and storage safeguards.

The AAA has set up a soil-building allowance of $3,643,000 for Mississippi farmers under the 1938 farm program. This sum, or such part of it as farmers qualify for, will be paid to farmers who carry out soil-building practices on their farms in 1938. This sum is in addition to the payment which farmers will receive for diverting cotton acreages to soil-conserving crops.

Development of good permanent pastures is the greatest need in Mississippi for more economical and profitable production of livestock. Not until good permanent pastures are established on every farm will Mississippi produce all of the livestock it is capable of for the state to grow. And the good pastures will not only greatly increase the output of beef and milk, but they will greatly reduce the cost of producing these products. Pastures capable of carrying one animal unit per acre 7 to 9 months during the year should be the goal set by all beef cattle producers and dairymen. Under the AAA farm program farmers can earn payments for seeding or sodding pasture, for applying superphosphate, and ground limestone, or its equivalent, on pasture land. They can also earn payments for terracing and contouring the pasture if it needs it. By taking advantage of this opportunity, farmers can build good pastures which will help them to conserve the soil and produce livestock and livestock products more economically.

Cows that are to freshen in the fall should be dry for a period of four to six weeks, states L. A. Higgins, extension dairyman of Mississippi State College. If the dry cow is on good pasture during the summer and early fall, she will need very little extra care. If it is necessary to increase her flesh, she should receive some concentrated feed in addition to pasture.

County farm and home agents are reminding poultrymen that the culling season is here. Hens that quit laying and start molting should be removed and marketed at once. Early molters are poor layers. Producers who are interested in culling can get information from their county extension agents. There isn't any danger of over-feeding growing chickens. They should receive plenty of feed, water and shade regularly. The young chickens should be kept separate from the older birds. This will help to prevent disease and worm infestation in the young flock.

Cotton Classing For Improvement Groups To Start This Year

Cotton classing for one-variety communities and other improvement groups is to be available for Mississippi growers for this year's cotton crop, E. H. White, director of the Mississippi Extension Service, announced today.

The service will be available to groups of producers organized to promote the improvement of cotton. It will not be available to individual farmers or to groups that do not qualify as cotton improvement organizations. The purpose of the service is to inform growers of the grade and staple length of their cotton and the extent to which their efforts are producing beneficial results. The service is expected to be worth hundreds of thousands of dollars to cotton growers.

From each bale of cotton of an improved variety ginned for a member of a qualified group, a 6-ounce sample of lint that is representative of both sides of the bale will be sent to the nearest classing office of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Each sample will be classed for grade and staple length and grower notified of this classification.

"Organized groups," Director White says, "must provide for the drawing and identification of the samples, and for shipping the samples to the classing office. Tags and containers will be supplied by the Bureau and transportation charges will be paid by the Government. There is no charge for the classing, but the samples classed become the property of the Government."

Director White said that the number of organized one-variety cotton communities in Mississippi increased from 110 communities in 46 counties in 1936 to 160 communities in 49 counties in 1937. Acreage planted to improved varieties of cotton in these communities increased from 124,409 acres in 1936 to 251,786 acres in 1937, while production increased from 80,640 bales in 1936 to 166,000 bales in 1937.

During the rapid expansion of cotton improvement work in Mississippi farmers other than members of the cooperative cotton association have been unable to obtain adequate classing services by which they might measure quality of their improved cotton that is uniform in character and staple length. Director White said, "and the new classing service will aid growers in their efforts to produce the cottons that are most in demand."

Along with the classing service, market-news informative will be supplied to the improvement groups. This information will be made available by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for press and radio distribution, and cooperating groups will post the price information at gins or in post offices, or other public places. This information will be such as to enable improvement groups to interpret central-marketing or mill prices in terms of local prices for cotton, and to determine more close-

Grenada Farmers Asked To Participate In Program

Jackson, Miss., July 6—E. H. White, director of the Mississippi Extension Service, called on Mississippi farmers to take advantage of the opportunity offered them under the 1938 farm program to earn payments for carrying out soil-building practices on their farms.

Director White has requested all county agents, local committeemen and agricultural leaders to select practices needed in their counties and to show the farmers how to calculate the maximum payment for their farm and to determine the number of soil-building practice units it will be necessary for them to carry out in order to qualify for full payment.

"The maximum soil-building allowance for Mississippi this year is estimated to be $3,613,000," Director White said. The extension director emphasized the fact that farmers, by adopting the approved practices, are improving the soil on the farm and getting paid for doing so. Among the practices for which payments are offered are establishing permanent pastures, terracing land, seeding summer legumes and winter cover crops, planting trees and reseeded pastures.

Farmers are advised by Director White to see their county agents or local committeemen for a list of things they can do to earn their share of the money set up by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and build up their soils at the same time. Director White stated that the AAA has estimated maximum soil-building allowance with 100 percent participation for Grenada county under the 1938 farm program as follows: Grenada County $32,000.

JUST ANOTHER SCRAP O' PAPER!

Cotton Prospects Not So Good; Corn Other Feeds, Fine

Rising Prices Partly Offset Disappointing Cotton Crop at Beginning July, as Feed Crop Flourish.

Better than average prospects for yield and increased acreages of corn and other feed crops, but fewer acres, spotted condition, and generally below-average yield prospects for cotton, is a summary of Mississippi crop conditions at the beginning of July upon which a group of agricultural workers are in uniform agreement.

The cotton crop is rated below normal on a number of scores. It is spotted almost everywhere, with good crops, fair crops, and indifferent crops sometimes observed in adjoining fields. It is rather uniformly late. There are numerous reports of poor stands. Weevil infestation is favored by frequent rainfalls as well as by delayed maturity. Excepting the possibility of practically ideal weather during the next 60 days, the prospect is for a greatly diminished per acre yield on a greatly diminished acreage.

Weather conditions unfavorable to cotton have been proportionately favorable to feed crops, especially to corn. Though official acreage estimates are not yet available, numerous reports indicate that the corn acreage is very substantially increased; and the July 1 yield prospect is generally accepted to be better than in any recent year. Good stands are generally reported and though the corn crop is somewhat late, much of it was in just the stage of development to benefit most by liberal rainfall. A better than average yield of corn seems to be assured and a bumper crop is easily possible.

Similar conditions are reported with respect to other feed and hay crops. Acreages of soybeans, cowpeas, and other items have been substantially increased and yield prospects are encouraging.

These Signs May Mean ROUND WORMS!

men who fight for good causes but lose through the ineptitude of their tactics. Which probably explain his latest fireside talk.

Representative Bertrand H. Snell's decision to retire from Congress may signify a great deal more than a desire to have more freedom to attend to personal affairs.

As minority leader he hasn't had to lead since the New Deal began, but as a ranking Republican out of harness his influence on his party may be felt long after his "retirement."

The free-for-all battle for the seat of the late Senator Copeland is going on full blast. Governor Lehman having announced his candidacy for the unfinished term probably stands the best chance of all the candidates. What New Deal Washington wants is to see Herbert Lehman back in the banking business and out of politics. Once termed "my good right arm" by the then Governor Roosevelt, Mr. Lehman, until he disagreed on the Supreme Court packing issue, was considered the President's most intimate friend and adviser.

Democratic National Chairman Frank Hague is horribly embarrassed. First the German American Bund representing the Nazis in this country offered to send 2000 uniformed troopers to march in his "testimonial parade" in Jersey City. And now Premier Mussolini has apparently joined the Nazis in showing praise upon old Frank.

The Giornale D'Italia, of Rome, official Fascist mouthpiece, has taken notice of Mayor Hague's "energetic action against red propaganda" and follows up with "he (Hague) has stirred a new conscience and the first ray of light of a new dawn spreading over the United States."

Both these endorsements are now causing the Vice-Chairman untold agony. His spokesman in Jersey City soon after the flattering words from Rome were released, flatly disclaimed fascism or Nazism and declared that boss Hague was fighting only for Americanism. The comic opera going on in Jersey had America laughing for the past few weeks, but Italy and our Nazi friends over here seem to have taken the affair seriously. At least they seem to believe that Frank Hague is an official for whom Nazis should parade and the Mussolini newspapers publish eulogies. Well, perhaps his laurels are thoroughly deserved, but to Washington and the contry at large old Frank Hague is still a local politician who simply succeeded in making the headlines and handing the country a laugh.

Earl Fife, of Vicksburg, of the rodeo to be held on lakes in Warren County, including Eagle Lake, August 11-12, which is being sponsored by the Vicksburg Junior Chamber of Commerce.

W. F. Holmes, Jr., of Greenwood, for the rodeo with headquarters at Greenwood to be staged August 17-18, under sponsorship of the Greenwood Chamber of Commerce.

Reece O. Bickerstaff of Gulfport, for the coastwide event, August 26-27, sponsored by the Gulfport Chamber of Commerce and the coast cities.

Commissioner Wright called attention to the equipment to be used—pole and line, rod and reel, fly rod, troll, harpoon, giga, jug, and dip nets.

"No rifles will be allowed," he said. "The only entrance fee is to be holder of a game fishing license."

Prizes for the largest gar will be awarded for each rodeo, with another for the largest number taken. Other awards will be given. "Many requests for information about the rodeos have been received," Mr. Wright said. "It is a fine way to spend your vacation, and many fishermen are planning to take brief respites from work to participate."

U. S. Navy News

The local Navy Recruiting Station will be closed on Saturday, July 9, 1938.

Five white men will be sent from the local Navy Recruiting Station to the main recruiting station, New Orleans, La., for enlistment in the U. S. Navy, on July 13, 1938.

11 colored men were sent from the local recruiting station to New Orleans, La., for enlistment in the Messmans Branch of the U. S. Navy, on July 5, 1938.

Four colored men of Grenada county were accepted for enlistment in the U. S. Navy at the local navy recruiting station this week.

Speed Record Set By U. S. Destroyer

The new Navy destroyer McCall made 42 knots, said to be the fastest speed ever attained by a Naval craft, in preliminary acceptance tests last week. The speed, equal to 47 land miles per hour, was reported maintained for four hours in a test run outside the Golden Gates, off the northern California coast.

Longest Range Guns
The longest range guns used by the Allies during the World War were five 14-inch Naval railway guns assembled and operated in France by our Navy personnel under the command of Rear Admiral Plunkett.

Naval Facts Worth Knowing
Only three officers in the U. S. Navy have ever held the permanent rank of full admiral, they were: David G. Farragut, David Porter, and George Dewey.

be free to spend their money anywhere they choose as the commissary would be maintained strictly for the convenience of those living on the place.

His attention was called to the amount of taxes that the Tie Plant District and county would lose should the government take over this property. He invited anyone to communicate with the Chancery Clerk of Sunflower County on this subject. He stated that as much or more money than lost, due to the property being non-taxable, would be returned to the county payable to the various tax funds. "Sunflower County," he said, "had had more money returned to the tax funds than lost."

According to Mr. Rich, it can not be said definitely whether white or colored people would be placed on Glenwild should the government become owner.

"In the event this project goes through," said Mr. Rich, "the District Office FSA will be moved to Glenwild and there is possibility that the state office will be transferred there, which will mean about 100 white employees will make their home on Glenwild."

perform as expected. In making the ski jump the driver of the car uses a ramp 32 feet long and 52 inches high at the end where the car is supposed to leap into mid-air. From the approach there is a gradual incline for about six feet, then the run-way, run horizontal to the end of the ramp. The driver stands on the left running-board of the car with his right foot on the accelerator and hits the ramp at a speed of 50 to 60 miles an hour with the two left wheels only. "The stunt is figured on a scientific basis," said O'Neal, "and the car is balanced with the foot on the running-board. According to O'Neal, when the car leaves the ramp, it will leap into the air for 40 or 50 feet and come down on the right front wheel first, then the left front and the rear wheels follow. Standing on the running-board relieves the driver of much of the shock that he would sustain if he were sitting in the driver's seat," said O'Neal.

According to testimony, O'Neal was thrown from the car when it left the ramp. The car then ran wild for something like 50 feet and crashed through the fence about ten feet from the south end of the grandstand. Joe Revell, with his father, his brother, Teddy, and Brannon Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Anderson, was standing just on the inside of the fence and on the outside of the race track where the stunts were being performed. There were also several COG boys standing nearby. When the car struck the fence several posts were knocked down and it is believed by some that one of the posts struck young Revell, causing his death.

Both the front and rear wheels, according to spectators, passed over Brannon Anderson. While he is badly bruised about the body, he is not confined to his bed. Neither Mr. Revell, who was standing several feet from the boys, or his elder son, Teddy, was injured.

Mrs. Revell, mother of the boy, who was killed, wrote a very heart-rending letter to the court asking that O'Neal be released. She stated, in her letter, that Teddy, now her only son, had said that it was not O'Neal's fault, and that she knew that Joe would want him released. She requested that O'Neal be cautioned to spend the Lord's day serving the Lord and the other six days doing stunts as it might spare some other mother from suffering.

Previous to the trial, both Mr. and Mrs. Revell had requested that no action be taken against O'Neal on account of the tragic affair and it is thought her letter had much weight with the court.

Employers Have Until July 26 To Mail Contributions

Title IX of SSA Places a Payroll Tax On Covered Employers

Jackson, Miss., July 6—Employers have until July 26 to mail contributions on 1936 payrolls to the Mississippi Unemployment Compensation Commission without sacrificing their right to have these payments credited against federal taxes, Executive Director Leon L. Wheelless pointed out today.

"Title IX of the Social Security Act places a payroll tax on covered employers, but provides that nine-tenths of this tax will be set aside in the case of employers who have paid an equivalent amount into state unemployment compensation funds," Mr. Wheelless explained.

"It is necessary, however, that employers pay their contributions to the Mississippi Unemployment Compensation Commission before a specified date in order to gain exemption from nine-tenths of the federal tax. Owing to the newness of the job insurance program in 1936 and the general lack of understanding which existed at that time regarding its taxing features, Congress has passed a special act extending the final date for payment to the state commissions until July 26, 1938.

"In 1936 the federal tax under Title IX was 1 per cent of payrolls. In Mississippi the job insurance contributions were 1.2 per cent of payrolls during the last nine months of the year or .9 per cent of payrolls during the entire year, whichever was greater. Covered employers who mail their payments to the Unemployment Compensation Commission post-dated on or before July 26 will secure exemption from nine-tenths of the federal tax."

In Mississippi employers are covered by the unemployment compensation law if they have eight or more employees during some part of 20 different weeks in the year, except that certain employments are exempted. These are agricultural labor, domestic work in private homes, government service, service on the crew of a vessel employed with certain close relatives, and work for certain non-profit charitable and educational institutions.

MSES Established New Record in June By Placing 1,606

Mississippi Stood 5th In Nation During May In Number of Public Placements

Jackson, Miss., July 6—The Mississippi State Employment Service established a new record for the state in June by placing 1,606 job seekers in positions with private employers free of charge. Industry, trade, construction, and domestic employers accounted for an increase of 433 over the number of private placements made the month before.

During June the MSES also placed 4,147 in public jobs, bringing the month's total placement to 5,753.

Raymond L. Sullivan, director of the MSES, revealed that Mississippi stood fifth in the nation during May in the number of public placements made. Only California, Texas, Georgia, and Pennsylvania were higher. In combined public and private placements Mississippi ranked 16th.

"We have also pushed steadily forward in our rank among the other states in private placements," Mr. Sullivan said. "As late as last November the MSES found places for only 79 persons in private employment, and our rank among the 48 states and the District of Columbia was 48th. Only Florida was below us."

"Then as our organization began taking its present shape, Mississippi's rank began climbing. In December we made 202 private placements and rose to 47th place. Our private placements numbered 163 in January, 202 in February, 408 in March, 707 in April, and 1,173 in May, and in that month our national ranking was 33rd.

"While nation-wide figures for June are not yet available, we confidently expect that Mississippi's record of 1,606 private placements will carry us still higher among the list of states."

Ford Sends Telegram To Sec. H. A. Wallace

Ackerman, Miss., June 30—Congressman A. L. Ford today sent the following telegram to the Secretary of Agriculture in regard to the date of payment of the 1937 cotton subsidy:

"Honorable Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Before I left Washington to return home officials of your Department definitely assured me that cotton subsidy application blanks would immediately be printed and would be in the hands of the County Agents at least by July tenth stop I was told that the form was already prepared and ready for delivery to the Government Printing Office for printing stop Press reports indicate that State Administration says application blanks likely would not be received in the County Office before August tenth, a delay of thirty days stop Cotton farmers desperately need these subsidy payments and there is no reason for it taking so long to get the application blanks to the County Agents stop I will thank you to advise when the Farmers may expect the Department of Agriculture to comply with the Act of Congress and make these payments stop I am sending a copy of this telegram to every Senator and Congressman from the cotton growing states.

A. L. FORD, M. C.
Mr. Ford said that he was highly disappointed over the delay which was about to be permitted by the Department of Agriculture and that he hoped the action he was taking in the matter would start a movement which would result in early payment.
